Mainly Acoustic Music Club

<http://mainlyacoustic.co.nz/>

Michelle Scullion and Jerry MacDermaid have performed together in duos, trios and quartets for several years. The combination of flute and guitar is a musical colour they both love. Creating musical layers and hues will be their theme when they take the stage as main guests on Tuesday 8th July. With instruments in hand, Michelle and Jerry are set to perform in scintillating style, a selection of songs and melodies from swing and blues, to latin, rock, and a sprinkling of originals too for good measure. So hold onto your hats and secure your seats as these two excellent musicians hit the notes and do their part to blow away those darned winter chills.

Michelle Scullion is a flautist, vocalist and percussionist. A leading Wellington jazz musician, she also plays and records funk, classical and world music. Michelle is a composer for film, contemporary dance works, theatre, radio and television. On the international stage, she performs in Australia, Hong Kong, France, and USA.

Home in New Zealand she has guested at many of the leading festivals, including – Nambassa, Brown Trout, Auckland, Wellington and Christchurch Folk Festivals, and Tauranga Jazz Festival. Add to that the Auckland Summer Programme, Wellington International Festival of the Arts, The Wellington International Fringe Festival, Nelson Arts Festival, Queenstown ..... The list just goes on. She'd make a promising apprentice in our ukelele group. (just a thought)

Jerry MacDermaid has been performing guitar and vocals for over 50 years. Originally from Michigan, he moved to New Zealand 35 years ago. Influenced by American rock and roll, country music as well as Detroit's Motown sounds. His deft touch, silky skills and toe-tapping rhythms are what he delivers in spades.

When he first arrived in New Zealand, he opened shows for Hogsnot Rupert, and featured in tours with The Roger Fox Band, Ratu Lewis (cousin of Prince Tui Teka) and the Maori High Aces.

These days Jerry plays regularly in Clubs, Restaurants and Cafés from Hamilton to Christchurch and teaches guitar at local high schools on the Kapiti Coast, where he enjoys mentoring young performers.

So there you have it. And just to give them a helping hand, the Mayfair's big open fire will be roaring and crackling along, pumping out the heat like there's no tomorrow.

The concert starts at 7.30 with invited local guests. Michelle Scullion and Jerry MacDermaid will perform at 9pm.
